

EXPIATES HIS CRIME BY DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

When the Current Was Applied, Czolgosz's Body Stiffened and Bounded as if It Would Burst From the Straps Which Held Him Fast.

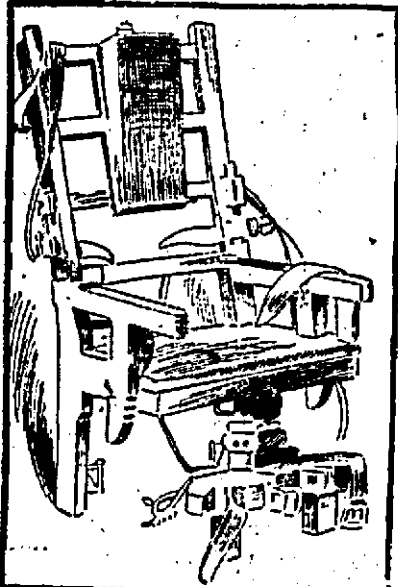

NOT A SOUND FROM ASSASSIN'S BODY

Three Currents Passed Through Him and Death Followed Immediately at 7:15 O'clock This Morning—Was Defiant and Nervy to the Last.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29.—President McKinley's assassin is dead. Leon F. Czolgosz was successfully electrocuted at Auburn prison this morning and was pronounced dead at 7:16 o'clock.

With purely animal courage that had sustained him and an innate cowardliness, struggling to his lips, the youthful murderer, hated by a nation and the world, paid the penalty of his fearful crime.

Not Sorry For His Crime Seated in the death chair Czolgosz

feared weakness he said: "I shot the president because I thought it would rid the good working people of abominations. I am not sorry for my crime."

During this time the attendants were strapping him to the chair. His last words were: "I am sorry I did not see my father." This was said after the straps had been drawn across his face yet his words were heard by all in the room.

Czolgosz went to his death unsupported by spiritual ministrations. He scorned the aid and spurned the entreaties of the priests who visited him in the last hours. He declared he wanted on one to pray for his soul. It is the first time in history that a prisoner condemned to death was led to the death chair without spiritual advisers.

Three Contacts Made Three contacts of the current were made, one lasting thirty seconds and the other two of short duration. The work of preparing for the electrocution was done quietly and quickly. After the witnesses were seated and the apparatus tested Czolgosz was hustled from his cell to the death room. He walked down the corridor with a shambling gait and his face was almost ghastly.

In less time than it takes to tell he was placed in the chair the electrodes applied and the straps drawn taut. Czolgosz looked helplessly about him and then made his statement. He spoke with an effort and when he had ceased speaking the fatal signal was given.

Body Stiffened Suddenly The lever was quickly applied and Czolgosz's body stiffened with startling suddenness and bounded with powerful convulsiveness as if it would burst the straps which held him in the chair. Then the current was turned off. No sound came from the body.

Twice more the current was turned on after which the doctors pronounced him dead. The corpse was taken to an adjoining room where an autopsy was held.

Brain Was Normal The autopsy showed the assassin's brain to be perfectly normal. Every organ in the body was normal.

Dressed in Simple Manner Czolgosz was dressed in a very simple manner for the execution a pair of black trousers, a loose gray shirt and a pair of gray socks completing the outfit. He wore no undergarments and no shoes. The left leg of the trousers was slit at the bottom to permit the free adjustment of the electrode and the shirt was open at the neck so the doctors could take the heart count, if there should be any, after the current had passed through the body.

No Love For His Kin Czolgosz showed no strength of love for his kin nor did he turn to any of those higher considerations which ordinarily claim the thoughts of men occupying his position. He may have suffered untold torture but outwardly he seemed sullen and indifferent.

The state is not to surrender possession of his body and by sundown it will have been secretly interred in ground controlled by the officials of Auburn prison. The plan of burning his clothing and papers was carried out immediately after the execution.

Family Is Indifferent Cleveland, O., Oct. 29.—Members of the family of Leon Czolgosz in this city show little concern over the fate of their son and brother. The seeming indifference is remarkable. The father of the assassin was down town today in conference with Chief of Police Corcoran, but the purpose of the conference was not learned, neither party to it giving out any information.

That the elder Czolgosz had become entirely indifferent to the fate of his son or else did not realize the terrible penalty he underwent, was very evident.

MEETING THE DIRE PENALTY

Czolgosz Showed Abject Fear of the Approaching End

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29.—As the hour approached for the execution of Leon F. Czolgosz, anarchist slayer of President McKinley, the strain on all connected with the official task became intense.

The assassin suffered a slight nervous attack late in the afternoon, but the prison officials did not regard it in the light of a breaking down and adhered to their belief that he would go unflinchingly to the chair and death. Aside from the break at nightfall Czolgosz spent his last day of life much as he did all the others since he passed into the hands of the law. The approach of death seemed to awaken no greater consciousness of his position. He again turned his back upon the priests who came to urge him, to confess and repent and was undemonstrative in the presence of those of his kin who came to say a last farewell to him. When alone with his guards he remained silent and passed the time either lying on his bunk or in slowly pacing up and down the cell. He talked, when addressed, to those admitted near his cell, with his old deliberation and slowness. If he knew strong emotion at any time he was successful in concealing it from those who watched over him.

Showed a Good Appetite. The prison guards combated the suggestion that his stolidity was a daze of fear and that the hour of execution would find him helplessly broken down. The prisoner suffered no loss of appetite and during the day ate the usual allowance of food given to prisoners. Thrown out his confinement he had a good appetite and his physical condition was excellent. He weighed about 155 pounds, which was thought to represent a slight gain since his arrest. Walter N. Thayer, former warden of Dannemora prison, who was requested by Superintendent Collins to assist and advise Warden Mead during the execution, inspected the death chamber and chair and suggested an improvement in the latter, which was made at once. He found the bars of the back of the chair were rather far apart and expressed the opinion that an upright backboard placed inside the bars would strengthen the grip of the straps upon the body of the condemned man. The suggestion was adopted. While Thayer was inspecting the chair Electrician Davis again lifted the switch and sent the electric current through it in final test. Davis also placed new sponges on the head and leg electrodes. Late in the afternoon the autopsy table was wheeled into the room adjoining the death chamber. Under orders from the warden a coffin was also prepared. The latter is of plain pine, stained black.

Condemned Man Indifferent. He refused to heed the words of the priests who came to urge spiritual preparation for death and declined to either re-embrace Roman Catholicism or re-embrace Roman Catholicism.

He changes his mind, there will be no religious ceremony at the end. Czolgosz showed no strength of love for his kin nor did he turn to any of those higher considerations which ordinarily claim the thoughts of men occupying his position. He may have suffered untold torture, but outwardly he seemed sullen and indifferent.

JOHN STRANGE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Strong Denial of the Report That He Would Become Private Secretary to the Governor.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 29.—John Strange of this city denies that he is to succeed Jerre Murphy as private secretary to Governor La Follette. When approached regarding the report to that effect he said:

"You may say that I no thought of assuming such a position, even though there should be a vacancy. I have neither the time nor the inclination for such work. There is not the slightest foundation for mentioning my name in connection with the private secretaryship, and you may deny the report as strongly as you wish."

An Oshkosh republican who is close to La Follette gives it as his opinion that if Murphy does resign his secretary will be A. F. Rogers, executive clerk at Madison at present.

PROGRAM FOR THE STATE TEACHERS

Prof. Cheever Announces Further Features for the Convention at Milwaukee During Holidays.

Milwaukee, Oct. 29.—"From present indications the coming convention of the Wisconsin State Teachers' association which will meet here during holiday week, will be attended by over 1,000 teachers and will be one of the most successful educational meetings ever held in the state," said Prof. W. H. Cheever, president of the association, yesterday.

"Among the very attractive features will be the address of Booker T. Washington. In view of Mr. Washington's present prominence in the public eye his appearance here will be anxiously looked for. An interesting feature on the general program of Thursday will be three fifteen minute symposiums on the needs and aims of the State Industrial school at Wausau by Prof. Mericka the deaf and dumb school at Delavan by Supt. C. P. Cary, and the school for the blind at Janesville by Supt. A. J. Hutton."

"Other numbers which have recently decided upon are an address on the general program by Supt. of Schools, H. O. R. Siefert, and an address before the city graded school section by John T. Ray, principal of the John Creaser school of Chicago, who will talk on "systematic Pupil Co-operation in School Government."

TIMELY HELP SAVED HER LIFE

Mrs. Josephine Curtis Is Called Back from the Threshold of Death.

GAS JET WAS OPEN

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. MacLean Make Heroic Efforts to Restore the Woman.

RECOVERY ASSURED

Mrs. Josephine Curtis was called back from the very threshold of death this morning, asphyxiation from inhaling gas having almost extinguished the spark of life. Had she been discovered a few minutes later or if the prompt and wisest treatment had not been given death would certainly have resulted with in a very short time.

When found rigidly had become well seated, all the muscles being perfectly stiff and set. Respiration had practically ceased and Mrs. Curtis was in a state of complete asphyxiation. Life was almost extinct and was only restored by means of artificial respiration, the result of the untiring efforts of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. MacLean who worked desperately even though they felt that there was no hope. Her measures alone prevented Mrs. Curtis' death.

Discovered Early This Morning

Mrs. Curtis was discovered about 7 o'clock by Miss Ardene Brosey, the servant girl at the home of Capt. W. T. Vankirk, 3 Milton avenue. Mrs. Vankirk is in Chicago and during her absence Mrs. Curtis, who is her sister, was presiding over her home. As Mrs. Curtis is an early riser, Miss Brosey thought it strange when she did not come to breakfast by 7 o'clock and she went to her room to call her. She rapped on the door but received no response and then she called, but still there was no reply so she opened the door.

A flood of gas rushed through the opening almost overcoming Miss Brosey. Instantly she realized what had happened and rushed to Mr. MacLean's home, next door calling for help. Mr. MacLean was still in bed but he heard her cries and his wife's answers and jumping out of bed he pulled on his trousers and stockings.

By this time he had heard enough to know that the accident was a case of asphyxiation and not knowing what course of treatment to pursue he ran to the home of Dr. James Mills still in his stocking feet, night shirt and trousers. He called to Dr. Mills asking what to do for a person overcome with gas and Dr. Mills shouted back "artificial respiration and rub the extremities." Waiting only to tell the doctor to hurry over to Mr. Vankirk's Mr. MacLean hurried back to the scene of the accident. It had taken only a few moments and his wife and Miss Brosey had just reached the Vankirk home and were opening the windows in the room where Mrs. Curtis lay.

The Work of Rescue

The bed was pulled up close to the open windows through the open windows and then Mr. MacLean went to work instructing his wife how to help him. Mrs. Curtis' arms were folded on her chest and the muscles were so rigid that Mr. MacLean had to knead the muscles before her arms could be raised. Mrs. MacLean took charge of one arm and her husband of the other and they worked together. When about four strokes had been taken they were rewarded by a slight puff of air from between the unconscious woman's lips. They kept on with continued energy and finally Mrs. Curtis began to froth at the mouth and then to breathe quite naturally. In the meantime Miss Brosey had telephoned to W. T. Vankirk who was at his grocery store and had hurried out to secure more help. As soon as they arrived Mr. MacLean, whom the emergency had placed in charge, put the neighbors at work rubbing Mrs. Curtis' feet and hands and limbs to excite circulation.

All this had taken but a few minutes although it seemed hours to those who were fighting for a life. When Dr. Mills arrived he found the work to be accomplished by artificial respiration done although Mrs. Curtis was still rigid. Her lower jaw was set so that it could not be opened and her face was almost purple. It was so red. He administered a hypodermic injection for the heart action and used hot water applications liberally.

Took Over an Hour

It was over an hour before Dr. Mills succeeded in bringing Mrs. Curtis out of the stupor enough to make any sign of returning consciousness. Mr. Vankirk then drove the physician to his office for his batteries and Dr. Mills quickened restoration by the agency of electricity. By eleven o'clock Mrs. Curtis was out of danger and her recovery assured.

Just how the accident happened no one knows. Mrs. Curtis is subject to chills and last evening when she retired about 11 o'clock she lighted the gas stove. She is also naturally timid and sleeps with both windows and doors of her room tightly closed. The relatives think that when she turned out the gas stove she did not turn the gas completely off although the blaze went out.

Turned the Gas Jet Others hold the theory that Mrs.

Curtis rose during the night to put more clothing on the bed and when she turned the light out turned the gas screw on the gas fixture has become twisted so that it has the appearance of being turned on when really the gas is shut off. This was probably responsible for the mistake. This theory is substantiated by the fact that there was an extra quilt and some of Mrs. Curtis' clothing on the bed. The bed clothes were pulled up tight about her face.

Mrs. Curtis had a very narrow escape from death. Miss Brosey who first found her was terribly frightened but notwithstanding her fright displayed rare presence of mind which is worthy of commendation. Mrs. Curtis is a sister of J. M. Bostwick, R. M. Bostwick and Mrs. R. L. Colvin, of this city, as well as Mrs. Vankirk.

Cross Examination of Schley

Washington, Oct. 29.—The cross examination of Schley was resumed this morning. Practically nothing of interest developed. Schley continues to meet the questions with ready responses.

ARREST A GANG OF PENNY MAKERS

Five Persons Who Flooded the Country with Counterfeit Cents, Have Been Caught.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—Chief Willie of the secret service has captured a gang of counterfeiters who have flooded New York, Chicago and other large cities with bogus pennies. Some idea of the importance of the arrest can be gained from the fact that $5,000 pennies a week have been circulated for the last five years. It is known that 1 per cent of the pennies in circulation in New York are counterfeit and it is believed that the same proportion in Chicago and other cities are bogus.

For years the secret service men have been at work on the case which has resulted in the arrest of five persons, named Verner, Usher, Lerner, and his two daughters, Rose and Fanny.

ENTOMBED MINER HAS BEEN SAVED

Charles Nutting Taken Out of Shaft at Brigham, Utah, After Sixty-One Hours' Imprisonment.

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 29.—After being entombed in the Highland Boy mine at Brigham, Utah, sixty-one hours, Charles Nutting was taken out alive today by the rescuing party that has been constantly at work since the cave in occurred.

The space in which Nutting was imprisoned was so small he was unable to stand. A plentiful supply of fresh air however served to prolong life.

One other man William Anderson, is still in the mine, and the rescuing party will continue at work until he is found. There is little hope, however of finding the man alive.

WANTS BIG FLEET TO WARN AMERICA

German Naval Officer Advocates Building Navy Big Enough to Threaten United States.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—During an address at a recent meeting of the Fleet society in Hanover Captain von Weichhelm of the German navy is represented to have said:

"Germany's interests in the five republics of Central America in view of American competition can only be maintained when we have a fleet strong enough to say to the Americans, 'Hands off.'"

This declaration was received with stormy applause. The papers generally ignore it, and the Freisinnige Zeitung observes:

"There is a species of political mischief-making which, while not punishable under the penal code, is none the less calculated to cause apprehension."

DOCKETS CROWDED BY DIVORCE CASES

Counties in Northern Illinois Kept Busy with Trials of Mismatched Couples.

Dixon, Ill., Oct. 29.—There are so many divorce cases pending in the counties near Chicago that the circuit clerks are actually backward about giving out the figures. When Clerk Ira W. Lewis of the circuit court of Lee county was told that Winnebago had about seventy-five cases and Rock Island as many, he said that Lee county had seventeen cases on the docket.

It also developed that there was a good business in upwards of a dozen of the most prosperous counties of northern Illinois.

In Rockford the county seat of Winnebago county, seventeen cases were disposed of and that many divorces granted in two days.

In Rock Island county it is claimed that there are seventy-five cases of divorce pending on the docket. It is claimed that the judges are importuned to take up certain cases and the pressure on this line of business of the sessions is seriously hindered.

In DeKalb county there are eight cases pending. Of this number the wife brings the action in fourteen cases.

THIRTY KILLED IN A RACE RIOT

Negroes and Whites Slain in Fierce Battle in Louisiana.

DUE TO COLOR LINE

Troops Rushed to the Scene of Conflict by Governors of Two States.

WHOLE PARISH RISES

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—A message has just been sent to Governor Heard by Sheriff Simmons of Washington Parish, La., saying that thirty men—ten whites and twenty negroes—have been killed and asking that troops be sent. Governor Heard in response has ordered fifty militiamen from New Orleans to the scene of the trouble. P. B. Carter arrived from Franklinton and reported the situation as something terrible. He said Joe Seals and Charles Elliott and another white man were dead and E. H. Thompson, a white man, wounded, and eleven negroes were dead. His information was up to last night and was obtained from people who went to Franklinton for help. At 3 o'clock a. m. a posse left Franklinton for the scene in charge of Sheriff Simmons, and armed men were hurrying to the same place. Mr. Carter said probably 500 men were under arms in Washington Parish.

The trouble occurred at a negro camp meeting, and the origin was as follows: Creer Lot, a negro, was running a refreshment stand, and a constable, a white man, asked for his license. He had none and defied him. The constable withdrew and obtained assistance. He returned with several white men when the negro rushed out and fired point blank into the crowd, killing Joe Seals and Chas. Elliott. The whites returned the fire and killed Lot. Then a negro preacher named Connelly rushed out of the house, gun in hand, and attempted to shoot, when he was killed. His daughter was also killed. It is said, accidentally. In the shooting which followed another white man was killed and E. H. Thompson wounded and seven or eight negroes killed. The shooting had no direct connection with the burning of negro Morris in that section last week, but it is undoubtedly a sequel to that tragic event.

RECEPTIONS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Official Program for the Season Announced Today, Includes a Ball for Alice Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—Secretary George B. Cortelyou today announced the programme of the receptions and dinners which will occur at "The White House." Formerly all invitations and announcements were issued from "The Executive Mansion." The official season is one of the briefest on record.

The intention is on shore Tuesday to give a grand cotillion in honor of Miss Alice Roosevelt whose eighteenth birthday occurs on Feb. 9. This is the first time that a ball for young people has been given at the White House since the days of Miss Nellie Grant.

GEN. U. S. GRANT'S WIDOW IS DYING

Has Refused to Let Her Children Know of Her Illness, Which May Prove Fatal.

Washington D. C., Oct. 29.—With five sons and daughters living, and yet not one of them at hand to soothe her suffering, Mrs. Julia Grant, widow of the late President Grant, is believed to be slowly passing away at her home in this city.

Alone, except for the servants, she is fighting the malady that may prove fatal to her. In her home on Massachusetts avenue, nor will she allow any message to be sent to her children telling of the serious character of her illness. Her insistence upon this point is simply in keeping with the characteristic she has always displayed, and especially in later years, to be absolutely independent of her family in all things.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI TO VISIT AMERICA

Duke Said to Have Plans for Another Polar Expedition, to Start from the United States.

Paris, Oct. 29.—It is learned that the Duke of Abruzzi will visit the United States next February, with a view to arranging for another expedition to the north pole. According to a report here last spring, the Duke of Abruzzi was then contemplating a joint polar expedition under the auspices of himself and Dr. Nansen.

A BIT OF POLITICAL HISTORY; HENRY FINK REVIEWS SITUATION

Collector of Customs at Milwaukee Claims That Governor La Follette Has Been Factional for Years; Has No Desire to Harmonize Party.

Henry Fink, of Milwaukee, recently replied to an editorial in the Oshkosh Northwestern in which was defined the word "faction" as applied to political parties, an effort being made to class the republican league in the list. After reviewing at some length the factional fight during the past ten years Mr. Fink says: In 1900 still bent upon gratifying his ambitions, Mr. La Follette again came forward as a candidate for governor. The nomination was also sought at the time by several other republicans of high standing and with good claims on the party. It was evident that the contest for the nomination would be spirited. Mr. La Follette who had met defeat in every republican state convention since 1894 evidently did not wish to again take chances. So to the surprise of everybody he began early opening negotiations with his opponents representing a majority of the party—the so-called "machine"—and with the corporations. Weary of the bitter factional discussions which had kept the party in turmoil and discord for eight years, and longing for harmony, and placing faith in his protestations in that regard, the leaders of the majority yielded, and gave him a clear field. Party harmony was thus restored. He was nominated by acclamation and received the united support of his party at the polls. He was elected by a large majority and the republicans congratulated themselves upon what they had reason to believe meant the permanent restoration of harmony. The import of the large majority at that election is often erroneously construed. If, instead of Mr. La Follette, Colonel Hicks had been the republican candidate for governor, and if instead of recommending or demanding the enactment of a primary election law the republican state platform had recommended or demanded a law regulating the wearing of corsets, the result would have been just the same. That election turned entirely upon national issues—whether the splendid administration of President McKinley should be endorsed or continued, or whether populism should be enthroned in the national government. Mr. La Follette was inaugurated under the most auspicious surroundings. Succeeding to the successful administration of Governor Scofield and with a strong and united party behind him, willing and ready to support him in every effort to make his administration a success, an opportunity presented itself to him, as seldom falls to the lot of an ambitious man in public life, of demonstrating his capacity for party leadership. The republicans in the legislature met the governor in the same spirit that brought about the harmony which led to his nomination and election. Even Mr. Haugen's appointment as tax commissioner, although objectionable to a majority of the republican senators, was unanimously confirmed upon the ground that the governor was justified in taking care of his friends. Unfortunately the conciliatory attitude of the republican legislators was not reciprocated by the governor. Unlike his republican predecessors he repelled those who could not agree with him in everything, and chose his advisers and counselors exclusively from his partisan following, and in general inaugurated a new departure in the customary and constitutional relationship between the legislative and the executive. The ante-election harmony which Governor La Follette had so strenuously sought and which had made his nomination and election possible, had served its purpose. For his post-election purposes, which, among other things, embraced a combination aiming at the seats of Senators Spooner and Quarles, he preferred the harmony which characterized the relations between the tribes of the original Americans—the harmony with a tomahawk in the other fellow's hand. In this spirit he framed, or caused to be framed, under his immediate direction and in absolute seclusion, the so-called Stevens primary election bill. With its introduction in the legislature the broad hint went forth that its passage without change or modification of anyone of the thirty-nine sections in any material point, would be insisted upon. A majority of the republican members of the legislature looked upon this unprecedented proceeding in amazement. They looked upon many features of the bill as being unwise, impracticable and as tending rather to aggravate than lessen the evils the bill pretended to abate. With a sense of responsibility to their party and the people, they exhausted every means in their power to reach an honorable understanding with the governor, which in good faith would redeem the party's pledges and have the united approbation and support of the party. Every proposition in this direction the governor rejected; even that of submitting the question to a vote of the people. In their opposition to the bill the members of the legislature but vindicated their constitutional prerogatives and their own sense of duty.

The substitute bill which they finally passed was returned by the governor with a veto message which has no parallel in the history of legislation. A majority of the republicans in the legislature believing the course of the governor revolutionary and contrary to the traditions of the party and majority rule entered their protest and gave their reasons therefor. They believed the governor's course to be in emulation of Andrew Johnson rather than of Lincoln and McKinley. Andrew Johnson believing himself a Moses, had a policy of his own which he sought to force upon the country. He boldly antagonized and defied congress and the almost unanimous sentiment of the republican party, which had elected him. His party caused his impeachment, and he would have been ousted from his high office but for the attitude of seven out of forty-two republican senators. Johnson was one of those men possessed of the illusion that they are wiser than their contemporaries and, mistaking himself for a principle, passed into oblivion. Did the term "faction" at that time apply to the republican majority in congress or to Johnson and his following? On the other hand the republican league, like Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt, believes in the party, and that the way to serve it is not the way to attempt to destroy it; that in every constitutional government, parties and not men rule. It stands for traditions as exemplified by the great leaders of the party. Lincoln chose his rivals as his cabinet advisors, and counseled as readily with Simon Cameron and Thurlow Weed as with Chas. Sumner and Horace Greeley. Following the example of his illustrious predecessor, the lamented McKinley also considerably deferred to every shade of the opinion in the party, and in consequence was as successful as Lincoln was in piloting the country in peace and war, and he has taken his place at the side of his immortal prototype in the niche of fame. President Roosevelt, with the same faith in his party, follows the same path, and with a united party upholding him, his administration will bring additional glory to the country and increased confidence in the republican party. The republican league stands for independence of thought and rejects the proposition of one man rule. It believes the republican party to still have a mission to fulfill. In furtherance of which it will strive to prevent the disruption of the party in this state on the altar of personal ambition.

It Happened in a Drug Store

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist at Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that she should take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy. The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by the Peoples' Drug Co. and Smith's Pharmacy."

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

There are many exciting situations and interesting scenes that appeal to the emotions of the heart in "The Village Parson," which begins an engagement at the Myers Grand tonight. The play is built with much cleverness and effect, depicting the life of a clergyman whose happiness has been clouded by the supposed unfaithfulness of his wife. The plot brings out a rascally lawyer whose sole ambition is to separate husband and wife so that he may gain her love and fortune.

The two American Macs who have achieved a lofty position as Irish comedians, and the well-known sourette, Mazie Trumbull, appear as the stellar figures in "The Irish Pawn-brokers," announced at the Myers Grand next Thursday evening. Their varied experience and versatility entitle them to the distinction of masters of art in farce comedy merriment.

Probe Mysterious Death.

Derby, Conn., Oct. 29.—Members of several fraternal societies are investigating the death of Millonaire Blake, who was found dead with a bullet hole in his head. He made a will a week before his death in favor of his young wife.

A DAILY NUISANCE.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interferest Catarrh Sufferers. In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later, the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucus, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging and frequent clearings of throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often gives temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. These tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastis, Eucalyptol, and similar cleansing antiseptics which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire alimentary canal.

If desired they may also be dissolved in water and used as a douche in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche; a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose, a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching, and local application, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

For sprains, swellings and lameness there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Try it. For sale by Peoples' Drug Co. and Smith's Pharmacy.

Notice of Settlement.

Until Nov. 1 I can be found in my East Milwaukee street meat market, where I will collect all outstanding accounts. Those indebted to me are requested to call and settle at once.

TWO PREACHERS GIVEN A WELCOME

Reception at the Court Street Church Last Night for Revs. McChesney and Tippet.

The parlors of the Court Street M. E. church were the center of hospitality last evening in honor of their new pastor and presiding elder and their ladies was a complete success and was one of the happiest occasions of the kind ever held in the city. From early evening until after 10 o'clock the parlors were thronged with people who were glad to extend the hand of fellowship and of welcome to the newcomers. Pastors and members of the other churches of the city were present in large numbers to extend fraternal greetings and the denominations mingled together happily for a pleasant evening of sociability. Fully five hundred people enjoyed the hospitality of the Epworth League and the pleasure of a personal meeting with the League's guests of honor.

The receiving party, included Rev. and Mrs. Tippet, Rev. and Mrs. E. S. McChesney and daughter, Miss McChesney and also the members of the reception committee upon whom devolved the pleasant duty of introducing the guests. This committee who assisted in receiving and in giving everyone a homelike feeling were Messrs. and Mesdames H. F. Bliss, W. W. Emmons and J. L. Hay and Miss Harriet Rogers, Miss Rogers being president of the League.

The church parlors were handsomely decorated for the occasion with a profusion of potted plants and bunting. The receiving party stood beneath a canopy of bunting in red and white, the colors of the League, the walls of the room behind the party being padded with black over which sprays of brilliant autumn leaves were scattered, making a most effective background. Easy chairs, rugs and draperies made the reception corner cosy and inviting.

In the corner diagonally opposite from the receiving party, light refreshments, consisting of coffee, cake and wafers were served. The large table where the coffee was poured was decorated with sprays of autumn leaves and above the table hung a basket of foliage and scarlet geraniums. Misses Beulah Westerfield and Rena Dewey presided at the coffee urn and the refreshments were served by Mrs. O. L. Brownell and Misses Grace Nott, Harriet Weaver, Florence Isaacs, Gertrude Green, Mae Summers, Clara Beckwith and Alice Wright.

During the evening excellent music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra with Miss Spence at the piano. The orchestra has only recently been organized but played splendidly together and the music added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The reception was characterized by an entire lack of formality and many of those present will cherish pleasant memories of the occasion for years to come.

FRANK KIMBALL IS GIVEN A LICENSE

Frank D. Kimball has just received the official documents which make him a certified embalmer of this state and which insures transportation over the railroad or any other common carrier of all bodies prepared by him, even though death resulted from contagious disease. The document, which is issued by the state board of health of the state of Wisconsin from the executive office at Milwaukee, Wis., certifies that Mr. Kimball has passed the special 'embalmers' examination required by the Wisconsin State Board of Health in accordance with the provisions of chapter 401, laws of 1901, and has given satisfactory evidence of his proficiency in anatomy, sanitary science and embalming and that he possesses practical knowledge, experience and a good moral character.

Mr. Kimball took the examination during the past summer and his certificate expires one year from date, Oct. 23. According to the laws recently passed, bodies where death has resulted from contagious diseases will not be accepted for transportation by the railroads unless they have been prepared by an undertaker who holds a state certificate as an embalmer. The state board of health authorizes the railroads to receive all bodies prepared by a certified embalmer.

ABSOLUTE FAITH.

You can depend upon the word of this Janesville Citizen.

He has had the experience. He has thoroughly tested the article.

He has found it as represented.

He has absolute faith in its merit.

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says:

"Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Alton, into the Rock River. I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through, and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells, sometimes very severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting, the result was a bad backache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's drug store and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than at any time since falling through the bridge."

Kodol

Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

Many digestive compounds and tablets are recommended to cure dyspepsia by digesting food with the pepsin they contain. Most of these possess merit, but they all fail in many cases, because pepsin digests only albuminous foods, such as eggs and meat. But we must eat more than eggs and meat; and some of the worst cases of dyspepsia are caused by indigestion of fats and starches and other foods which pepsin cannot digest.

There is one preparation that contains all the digestants. It is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE, which digests what you eat, and has been used with remarkable success,—not a single failure to cure being reported from the many thousands who have used it.

J. E. Peabody, Pittsford, N. Y., says: "The first dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieved my son of stomach and heart trouble, and four bottles of it cured him. I heartily recommend it."

MCKINLEY MEMORIAL OFFERING

The following is the form of subscription blanks sent out by the National Memorial association.

PARTY HARMONY.

The Oshkosh Northwestern discovers in the attitude of a portion of the state press a spirit of conciliation and an expressed desire for harmony. The Northwestern is the only republican daily of prominence in the state that has supported the governor in his reform measures. The paper is in close touch with the press of the state, and has long since realized that its course has not been in harmony with popular party sentiment.

It has not resorted to personal abuse, or the flood of billingsgate resorted to by the governor's personal organs, that are created and maintained for that express purpose.

The Northwestern is a first-class newspaper, engaged in legitimate business, with a well established political record. Its editorial page is clean and wholesome and while its old associates do not endorse its present policy there is no disposition to disparage the worth or influence of the paper.

There is no reason why the Northwestern should be surprised when the conservative element of the party expresses a desire for party harmony.

The party was held together for years by this element and when the factional fight was finally abandoned, it was done, not because of weakness, but because party harmony demanded the sacrifice. The same men—and their name is legion—are the backbone of the party today. They have not changed, either in spirit or principle, but they are more intensely interested in the life and welfare of the party, than at any time in its history.

They represent, not a faction in the party, but the party itself, standing on a platform so broad that every republican in the state may occupy it, if he will. There isn't a republican journal in the state today, whose eyes are not blinded by prejudice, that does not desire party harmony.

If the Northwestern will make a careful survey of its exchanges it will discover this to be the fact. The Republican League is a republican organization, founded by the conservative element of the party, not for the purpose of antagonizing the governor, but for the purpose of saving the party. It is neither a tin horn, nor a brass band organization, but it has behind it the great army of the republican party throughout the state. The governor is just as welcome to join its ranks as any other man in the party.

If the Northwestern has any influence with him, or with the organs he controls, it can do good work for the party by using it in the interests of harmony along practical lines. The paid organs of the governor are not republican journals and this the Oshkosh paper thoroughly understands. The abuse heaped upon the party day after day by these organs, is of the lowest order of pot-house journalism. It lacks both the elements of decency and common sense. If the governor has a political future it will be because he possesses the good sense to either control or forsake some of his fool friends, who seem determined to bury him by methods of support that can only result in ruin. The republican party will live in the state, and Governor La Follette can live with it, if he possesses the good judgment to do so.

EDUCATIONAL FADS.

A lady connected with the Chicago schools, recently addressed an audience at the Hull House. Discussing spelling as necessary to practical education, she said that time was wasted in teaching spelling and that boys and girls had plenty of time to learn to spell after they left the high school. The statement was handled by the Chicago press without gloves, as it deserved to be. If there is any lunacy connected with primary education, it is in the neglect to thoroughly teach the common branches in which not only the masses are interested, but which are necessary to thorough advancement in higher work.

The boy or girl who leaves the high school or the grades, lacking knowledge of either spelling, writing or composition, has sustained a loss from which recovery is the rare exception. They go into life handicapped in almost every department, and all because some wise teacher was permitted to practice a false theory about education.

As a result the child sustains a loss beyond recovery. Such nonsense ought to be considered a crime, for that is what it amounts to. The time and opportunity has been stolen from the child, and there never comes a period in after life, when the loss can be made good.

Give a boy spelling, composition and penmanship, backed with honesty and ambition, and start him out in the business or industrial world, and that's where the most of the boys start, and as a rule he is on the road to success. Give a girl the same accomplishments, and her chances for landing in a good home of her own are infinitely better than where she is handicapped by vertical writing and short hand spelling, and composition, that would discourage the most enthusiastic student.

The three "R's" are just as necessary to education today as they were fifty years ago, and the school that becomes so modern as to neglect them is entitled to severe criticism. The expression of knowledge is the only test of education, and when the expression is faulty, whether it be the expression of hand or brain, or both, somebody, back in the years devoted to expression, is to blame, and usually it is the teacher, whose theories of incompetency, wrought mischief and disaster.

Stay by the old landmarks and education will be more practical and infinitely more helpful.

THE MCKINLEY MEMORIAL.

Under the direction of Henry C. Payne the state has been thoroughly organized, by appointing committees in every county to solicit funds for the McKinley Memorial. The work is supplemented by placing in the hands of the banks and newspapers subscription blanks which will be accessible to the public. The names of contributors will be published from time to time, and money forwarded as collected.

It will not be necessary to urge people to donate for this fund. The offering is to be a free will offering in every sense of the word. The American people not only honored President McKinley, but they possessed a love for the man that was akin to family devotion, and his untimely death produced in the homes of the land, not only profound sorrow, but a sense of personal loss.

The monument to be erected to his memory will be dedicated to the soldier, the citizen, the statesman, and the martyred president, but in a more sacred sense it will represent the love of a nation for the great man whose heart ever beat in sympathy with humanity.

It is not the amount we give, but the spirit that prompts the act. Better a monument built by the pennies of the nation, with 75,000,000 hearts behind it, than a more costly shaft with the great mass of humanity left out.

MR. FINK'S LETTER.

In another part of the paper will be found an extract from a letter recently written to the Milwaukee Sentinel by Henry Fink. Mr. Fink is a well known republican, and is at present collector of customs in the Cream City. He belongs to the conservative element of the party, and is a vigorous supporter of it. He maintains that the Republican League is not a faction, and that the only faction that has annoyed the party in recent years is known as the La Follette faction.

Mr. Fink produces some strong arguments, founded on facts to substantiate his position. The letter will be read with interest, and is worthy of thoughtful consideration.

The southern press is criticizing the president for entertaining a colored man at his table, while the state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Ohio is busily engaged in passing resolutions requesting him to banish wine from the white house. There is just as much consistency in one as the other. The president's private life is not a question of public criticism or regulation.

The teachers have won a victory in Chicago, and as a result the state is likely to lose many of her heavy manufacturers, the management claiming that the supreme effort of a man is to be a socialist, as well as an anarchist, but her scheme does not meet with the approval of either sect.

Four murders and one suicide at Beechwood Wis., resulted from sentimental rhapsody about permitting a crazy man to have his liberty.

Chicago is paying a political bonus of forty-two cents per ton in a large coal contract. Political supplies usually command a good premium.

PRESS COMMENT.

Marquette Eagle: The stalwart movement to purify state politics is not as dead, evidently, as the half-breed press would like to believe.

Racine Journal: A date or two may have gone wrong in all the mix up in this naval part of the panish war but the date is not wrong on which Schley and Captain Clark knocked out the Spanish fleet.

Superior Telegram: Indian Commissioner Jones' thinks that such good care has been taken of the Indians by the government that it will not be long before they are able to take care of themselves.

Evening Wisconsin: The Wisconsin men who are boring for oil in Kentucky might find lead mines if their operations are in the sections of the "dark and bloody ground" which have been rent by feuds.

Appleton Post: Anyhow Gov. LaFollette has eliminated one issue from the contention between so-called stalwart and half-breed republicans by recovering from his recent illness. And he can, if he will do a good deal towards eliminating or minimizing the remaining issues. Let us hope that he may do what he can in that direction.

Milwaukee News: If a whole lot of southern gentlemen were to consult their "ole mammys," they would probably learn that there was a time when dining with a negro managed to quiet them quite as effectually as the dining of Robespierre and Washington has served to inflame them.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The fears of some republicans that reciprocity will be interpreted to mean a leaning toward democratic free trade, and therefore an indication of weakness on the part of the republicans, can be set down as a needless alarm. The democratic idea of the new republican policy is well illustrated by the following squib from the Milwaukee Journal, which says: "Reciprocity will demonstrate itself as one of the most captivating schemes in the world to obstruct tariff reform."

Milwaukee Journal: The German-American bank of Wausau, of which Walter Alexander is vice-president, has just been made a government depository. The bank has a capital, surplus and undivided profits aggregating $140,469.52, deposits $1,120,032.36, and discounts, $709,633.27, a very large and lusty institution for the little city on Wisconsin. This is not a campaign document. The Journal still believes that Mr. Alexander is not a candidate for governor.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

"There my dear," said the returned hunter, "there's one bird for you anyway. Bagged him just as I was about to give up in disgust."

"Oh George!" she exclaimed, "it's a carrier pigeon, isn't it?"

"Not much! It's a quail."

"But it has a card tied to its leg with some message on it. Let's see. It says: 'John Jones, Poultry and Game, Central Market.'—Philadelphia Press.

"I see that your wife takes great interest in manual training." "Yes," answered Mr. Meekton, gently, "and I'm the man."—Washington Star.

"It seems to me that our friend has so much faith in money that he almost makes a religion of it."

"I don't like the comparison. The word religion implies at least a remote chance for backsliding."—Washington Star.

PHILOSOPHY OF THE STREET.

Hurry kills two men where systematic hard work injures one.

A man must be pretty desperate when he wishes he was some one else, with unknown troubles.

The man who cannot amuse himself watching the growth of a plant is decidedly hard to please.

People who make agreements without thought generally secure food for reflection, when it is too late.

Men who claim they would act differently if it were not for their wives, admit being bossed by a woman.

When a man sits down to think seriously what a queer collection of tramp ideas immediately insist on intruding.—Milwaukee Journal.

LIFE AS IT IS.

"Children," said the teacher while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves and write what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings or draw inspirations from outside sources."

As a result of this advice Johnny Wise turned in the following composition:

"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but write what is in us. In me there is my 'stummick, lungs, hart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, one stick lemon candy and my dinner."—Baltimore American.

Women's

Costumes

The question of perfecting ready-made dresses for women is solved. The styles, the variety, the grace and beauty of those shown on our floors at the present moment amply prove that. We exhibit all the late models in such materials as: zibelines, wide wale serges, venetians, broadcloths, hair line stripes, &c. Extra values at $12, $15, $18 and $22.50. IS RUN OVER AND SERIOUSLY HURT

MRS. O. P. WHITE, AN AGED LADY, MEETS WITH BAD MISHAP.

Due to the Recklessness of a Party of Three Men Driving Furiously Down South Main Street—The Miscreants Did Not Stop, But Dashed On and Escaped.

Mrs. O. P. White, an aged lady, who is well known throughout this city and vicinity, was run over and seriously injured last evening through the recklessness of three young men who were driving furiously down South Main street. Mrs. White had been attending the reception at Court Street M. E. church and at 9:30 o'clock she and a lady friend started home.

Mrs. White has been in feeble health for some time and the two ladies intended to take the street car for their South Main street home. They waited at the corner of Main and Court streets for the car, and were just about to step onto the platform of the waiting car when a horse, being driven hard, rushed past them.

The wheel of the carriage struck Mrs. White forcibly on the shoulder and in some manner her skirts became entangled in the spokes of the wheel and she was thrown to the ground heavily.

She struck on the back of her head on the hard pavement and was so dazed and injured that she had to be carried to the sidewalk. An effort was made to get her to Dr. E. E. Loomis' office but this was found to be impossible and she was placed on the stand erected in front of O. D. Bates' grocery for the display of goods and supported there by friends.

Dr. Loomis who is Mrs. White's physician, was hastily summoned and arrived almost immediately. The men who had been the cause of the accident had proceeded rapidly, on their way without stopping to see what damage had been done but the motorman on the South Main street car very thoughtfully waited to see if the car would be of any service. When Dr. Loomis arrived he said they must get Mrs. White home, if possible, and the motorman said if they could get her onto the car he would run it slowly so as not to hurt her.

Mrs. White was completely dazed and complained of feeling nauseated but was able to walk to the car with the aid of several friends. Dr. and Mrs. Loomis accompanied her home and she was made as comfortable as possible. Although no bones are broken, her injuries are very serious, especially for one so advanced in years and feeble in health. On the back of her head, where it struck against the pavement there is a large lump, about the size of a coffee cup, with two lumps in it. Her left arm is badly bruised and injured and she was badly shaken. The blow on her head had so dazed her that she did not know what had happened and the extent of her injuries could not be told last night.

There were several eye witnesses to the scene and all are united in holding the reckless driver entirely to blame for the accident. He had been whipping the horse the entire length of the block from Milwaukee street. He is condemned especially by those who saw the accident for not stopping to see how badly he had injured Mrs. White and for not in some measure trying to make amends.

WAS A PLEASANT DANCING PARTY

First of a Series Given by the Inning Club at Odd Fellows Hall Last Night.

There was a pleasant dancing party at East Side Odd Fellows' hall last evening, it being the first of a series at which the young gentleman members of the Inning Club will entertain their lady friends this winter. The parties are private attendance being restricted to members of the club and their ladies. The Inning Club is practically a reorganization of the Outing Club which gave such successful parties up the river in the summer and in the city during the winter several seasons ago. It is composed of the young society men of the city, and is a most congenial company.

About forty couples were present at last evening's party, which was strictly informal and thoroughly delightful. The dance program was especially well arranged to please all dancers, every third dance being a quadrille. The best of music was furnished by Johnny Smith's full orchestra, and there was not a dull moment during the evening. Everyone had a jolly time and everyone was delighted over the reorganization of the club and the opportunities which it will give for several delightful evenings during the winter.

The floor was ably cared for last evening by W. W. Watt, H. Ross King and Edward H. Peterson. The next party to be given by the Inning club will be on Monday evening, Nov. 18.

BALKY BOVINE STRUCK BY TRAIN

Thrown Twenty Feet in the Air—Passengers Given Bad Shaking Up, and Engine Damaged.

When the 5 o'clock Janesville-Madison passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road pulled into the Bower City yesterday afternoon the front of the engine was badly wrecked and smeared with blood and flesh. Two miles this side of Edgerton the train crashed into a balky bovine that insisted on the right of way. A farmer boy on horseback was leading the cow. The boy and horse crossed the track and so could the cow had she so desired. But instead she balked when once astride the rails. The train was then a quarter of a mile away. All efforts on the part of the frantic farmer had failed to bring the cow to his senses. Several shrill whistle blasts failed to bring the cow to her senses. Then the lad let go of the rope and flew for dear life. With a terrible thud the iron horse struck the bosal square in the side throwing her twenty feet into the air and over a fence into a corn field. Death was instantaneous. The shock threw passengers from their seats.

The damage was so extensive that a change of engines was necessary here.

Guests of W. S. Jeffris

The boys who are members of W. S. Jeffris' class in the Congregational Sunday school were his guests last evening at his home, 202 South Franklin street. Under the personal direction of Mrs. Jeffris a feast had been prepared which included the things to eat of which boys are especially fond and ample justice was done the elegant supper.

After the feasting was over, the balance of the evening was happily spent with games and music. Mr. and Mrs. Jeffris entertaining their guests as only those people who understand and love young folks know how. It was a jolly evening for everyone and the hour for goodnight found the boys unwilling to leave the evening's pleasure behind.

Death was caused by heart disease.

New York, Oct. 28.—Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, was sitting in the west corridor of the Waldorf-Astoria, surrounded by a circle of well-known Wall street financiers, one of whom, in the course of a somewhat pedantic discussion, referred to some one as being "as rich as Midas."</

EXPLAINS CRIME IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

For a month and a day Leon Czolgosz waited for death in the cell to which he was carried when he entered the prison doors fainting from fear of the howling crowd which struggled to get at him. The attempt of the assassin to keep up the appearance of courage made at the beginning of his short trial at Buffalo was a miserable failure, and long before the death sentence was passed he had exhibited to all who saw the inability to even pretend to courage. When Czolgosz was taken to the Buffalo prison on the afternoon of the commission of the crime he soon exhibited his perversive and sullen nature. He was morose and crabbed in his answers to the few questions the attendants put to him.

Becomes Ravenous as Beast.

Then began the development of his ravenous appetite, akin to that of a wild beast, which has been a characteristic of his prison life. He was kept in as strict seclusion as possible and only the necessary examinations by the police to find if he had confederates in the plot to murder the President interrupted the monotony of his daily life. He thought that he had killed the President instantly and his whole talk for the first few days was on the theory that this was true. The three weeks he spent in the jail wrote their story on the prisoner's appearance. For several days Czolgosz was not given clean linen and the shirt front spotted with blood was worn during this time. The bloody marks on his clothing and the torn clothing itself were the result of the attack made on him by the enraged bystanders in the instant after the shots were fired. In these days his hair was allowed to grow long, and it became matted, and though at one time he had been vain of his personal appearance, when a realizing sense of his hopeless condition came to him in the jail he lost this vanity.

Was an Abject Coward.

He was a miserable, groveling object since the morning of Sept. 27, when he was brought into the prison in this city. When the train arrived the people, in spite of the precautions of the officers, had learned of the fact that the assassin was on board, and as soon as the car stopped Czolgosz was hustled to the ground and started on the short trip of 100 feet to the door of the prison. The crowd reached him and one blow full in the face from the hand of a workman dazed and frightened him. When the little squad of officers, bruised and battered themselves from the conflict with the crowd, got him inside the protecting wall he was limp and shrieking in his agony of fear. Falling on the floor, the prisoner foamed at the mouth and uttered shrieks after shriek until the gruff command of the prison physician compelled him to moderate his cries. Fear of the violence of the mob, abject fear, left the assassin physically prostrate and five prison attendants were compelled to bear him to the cell, where he remained a trembling object at the opening of the door since that night a month ago. Cut off from the world and except for the late visit of his brother practically dead to his family as well as the world, he died a thousand deaths in his manifest dread of the actual execution of the sentence of the court.

Asks Concerning Death Chair.

He discussed with one of the guards the probable sensations of a man while being put to death in the electric chair. He broached this subject after he had sat on his cot for more than an hour smoking a cigar and gazing fixedly through the bars of his cell door.

"How does it feel?" he asked suddenly, looking up at the guard.

"How does what feel?" sniffed the guard.

"That—in there," said the assassin, jerking his thumb toward the wall, twenty feet beyond which was the entrance to the death chamber, where he paid the penalty of his crime.

"Oh, you'll know," said the guard, contemptuously, for nobody about the prison has the least spark of feeling for the assassin. "It's soon over."

He appeared to be unlike any type of anarchist criminal with which criminologists are familiar. When he stood erect he was about 5 feet 8 inches in height and his weight was about 140 pounds. His figure might be called athletic were it not for an unmistakable droop of the shoulders.

Will Bury Body at Prison.

The body of Czolgosz will not be removed from Auburn, Superintendent of State Prisons Collins and Warden Mead, after hours of controversy with Czolgosz' brother, succeeded in obtaining from him the following relinquishment of the family claims to the remains when the executioner shall have finished his work:

"Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 28.—J. Warren Mead, Agent and Warden, Auburn Prison: I hereby authorize you as warden of Auburn prison to dispose of the body of my brother, Leon F. Czolgosz, by burying it in the cemetery attached to the prison, as provided by the law of the state of New York. This request is made upon the express understanding that no part of the remains will be given to any person or society, but that the entire body will be buried in accordance with the law in the cemetery attached to the prison."

"WALDECK CZOLGOSZ."

"JOHN A. SLEICHER,"

"GEORGE E. GRAHAM."

Showmen Wanted Remains.

The resolution of Superintendent Collins to prevent sensation in the transportation and burial or cremation of the body of Czolgosz took new zest from two offers that were submitted by men of questionable enterprise. A museum-keeper in one of the larger eastern cities telegraphed him an offer of $5,000 spot cash for either the body or the garments of the murderer, and the owner of a kinetoscope wired Warden Mead that he would pay $2,000 for permission to take a moving picture of Czolgosz entering the death chamber. The superintendent also had suspicions aroused as to the motives of some of the relatives of Czolgosz in seeking the body, in view of their poverty and the trouble and danger possible in connection with its removal and disposal.

Promises Decent Burial.

The superintendent met Waldeck Czolgosz, brother of the murderer, as he was being escorted to the death cell shortly after his arrival and at once took the matter up with him. He asked Czolgosz if he wanted the body. He said he did. Collins then told him that he did not believe it could be removed without serious trouble and strongly advised him against the attempt. The plan to take it to Buffalo, where Czolgosz had assassinated the president, he regarded as particularly dangerous. Collins discussed the matter from the standpoint of the Czolgosz family and said they would surely avoid serious annoyance and possibly violence by consenting to burial here. He assured Waldeck Czolgosz that he and the family could attend, that they would be protected and that the body would be given decent burial.

Miss Henrietta Tice of Chicago Makes Change in Plan.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Should the public respond to her request for contributions to build a memorial to Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, Miss Henrietta Tice of 360 Fulton street will go farther than to erect a mere mausoleum to his memory and will build and run a cheap boarding-house for workmen. She has changed her mind and now believes that a cold marble slab is not a fitting testimony to what she terms his "warm and lovable nature." Miss Tice styles herself a "revolutionist," and would upturn the entire order of government to obtain a state of free society. She considers Czolgosz a protesting human sacrifice to the present order of the human race. She lives in the rear rooms, on the ground floor, of a two-story frame building, and her neighbors say that she spends her time reading socialistic and anarchist literature. "I would go farther than build a shaft," she said, "for his heart beat too fervently for his fellow-men to be represented in cold stone. Like Ben Adhem he loved his fellow-men, not wisely but too well. He could not do other than he did, for he was one of those men who are compelled by circumstances to step in and protest with their lives against the present system. He was a martyr for his down-trodden fellows, and they can better appreciate a cheap boarding-house than a cold marble slab. That is why I now want such a memorial. I say I am a revolutionist. You ask me if I am an anarchist or a socialist. I do not care what you call me, but I would upturn modern society. My great-grandfather was Bricklayer General Hand of the Revo-

Adding Fuel to the Fire

Nine out of ten people are afflicted with constipation in one form or another, but pay little or no attention to it. Every week or ten days a violent headache warns them that something is wrong. Then it's a dose of calomel, pills or some other irritating, griping purgative to set the bowels and liver in motion. Such treatment is only adding fuel to the fire so to speak—undermines the system—nervous prostration and utter collapse is the end.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and Herb Laxative Compound taken as directed at meal times counteracts hasty and over-eating, aiding digestion, acting gently on the bowels in a manner pleasant to the user—headaches disappear, you are your old self again. Get a bottle today—take it regularly at meal times.

Put up in 50c and $1 bottles, but you had better get the $1 size, for it contains more proportionately. Our new book, "Told by a Doctor," will be mailed with a sample of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin absolutely FREE.

better than any other ready-to-wear clothes in the market, and superior to much that is made-to-measure. The wholesale tailoring processes through which our clothes are put, enable the makers to produce them at a price that is little, if any, in excess of the cost of the general run of ready-to-wear clothing. The difference in price to the wearer is scarcely worth talking about, but the difference in the satisfaction and service is so immense, that one must indeed be wastefully inclined if he buys any other make of clothing when he can get Ziegler's.
